

SAMPLE RUN / WALK 50 MILES IN 4 WEEKS SCHEDULE

The following is a sample run/walk 50 miles in 4 weeks program. It is intended for someone who is already comfortable walking or running 2 miles a few times a week. If you are brand new to a walking or running program, it may be best to start with the “We Fit Moms Move for 15 Minutes a Day Challenge” to prepare for this one next month.

Please remember one size does not fit all, but this is a good place to start. Modify as you need.

A safe and effective training program that helps prevent injury:

- builds mileage slowly
- keeps mileage consistent and spread out through the week (don't try to do all your miles in one day or one week)
- has rest days

On rest days, either take the day completely off or do other activity like yoga, stretching or weights. Rest days are good after longer days which (in this program) are over the weekend when it's assumed you have more time and/or flexibility in your schedule.

It's recommended you exercise in a good pair of athletic shoes and comfortable, breathable clothes. Pick a time of day that is convenient and safe. If heading out in the dark, bring a flashlight or headlamp and wear reflective clothing. You can use apps like AllTrails, MapMyRun or Strava to track your mileage.

WEEK	MON	TUES	WED	THU	FRI	SAT	SUN	TOTAL	NOTES
1	Rest	2 miles	1 mile	2 miles	Rest	2 miles	3 miles	10 miles	Add a stretch routine at the end of each run/walk.
2	Rest	2 miles	1.5 mile	2.5 miles	Rest	3 miles	3 miles	12 miles	Find a time of day to exercise that works for your schedule and then stick to it.
3	Rest	2.5 miles	2 miles	2.5 miles	Rest	3 miles	3.5 miles	13.5 miles	Explore new neighborhoods, parks or trails to keep it interesting. Add some hills.
4	Rest	3 miles	2 miles	3 miles	Rest	3 miles	3.5 miles	14.5 miles	Keep hydrating even if it's cold. Drinking water helps the muscles repair and your cardio system keep up.
